TIP M'CARLEY, M'KINNEY ONION KING, SAYS GAMBLING SPIRIT KEEPS HIM IN BUSINESS

★ ★ ★

By WHITEY SAWYER
In The Dallas Morning News

M'KINNEY, Tex. — When you chew down on an onion, you're chomping the product of a real gambling man.

The big operators in onions make Hialeah and Las Vegas plungers look like marble shooters.

"I've made as much as $800 an acre," says Tip McCarley, known as the "Onion King" in this rich farm area of North Texas.

"But I lost $20,000 last year," he added ruefully.

Onions are big business. From 1950 through 1954, the Texas crop was valued at an average of almost 10 million dollars a year.

"Here around McKinney," McCarley says proudly, "we've got a good, heavy black land. It makes beautiful onions."

"We have to fertilize a bit, but other than that, this land is just about perfect. The seeds are planted in the winter gardens area around Carrizo Springs and Crystal City in South Texas in the fall.

"We prepare the ground up here and start planting slips about December 15.

"The onions don't require much tending from then until we harvest, about the latter part of May and June. We get a little thrip, that's a little black bug, but its easy to control. We spray from tractors or airplanes.

"Blight is a worry, however, and you can't do anything about it. It's usually caused when the sun hits the onions hard just after a rain.

"The weather has got to be good just before harvest. Rain then would put too much water in the onions and then you can't ship them.

"Harvest time is when judgment really counts in a doubtful year. I've been in the onion business 35 years and harvest is about the only time the experience shows up.

"If the onions have too much water, or blight, or thrip, or the price is too low, it's better to leave them right in the ground and plow them under. Costs really stack up when you harvest them and can't ship them.

"If I decide to harvest, we pull them by hand, grade them using a machine grader, sack them and ship them to every state in the union, Canada and Cuba."

McCarley, who enjoys speculation, started in the onion business 35 years ago. "I'd set out just a few acres, but I could see possibilities in the onion business. So I went into it as partners with a couple of good friends.

"There's a possibility of making some money if you can keep it," he smiled.

"I'd recommend it if a fellow doesn't mind spending a lot of money and maybe not getting any of it back. The investment is tremendous. Machinery costs are soaring and I hire, say 400 or 500 men over a season. All that money has got to be spent and you don't get a nickel back unless you make and sell a crop.

"But," McCarley smiled, "I guess if I knew of a more speculative way to farm, I'd be in it."

TOM and PETE — THE HOME TOWNERS
THE GREEN LIGHTS ARE ON IN McKINNEY AND COLLIN COUNTY

▶ WELL THE postal system which operates in the red as far as revenue is concerned will ask for a raise in rates this term of Congress. We believe that if they do raise postal rates, it should be across the board. Now another thing that Congress should do is to give our Postal employees a decent raise. President Eisenhower vetoed a bill giving them a raise, saying that they could not afford to do it. Seems that the way they are throwing 'bucks' around in Washington, they certainly ought to throw a few of them at the postal employees. McKinney and Collin County pride themselves on having the finest group of postal employees to be found and the records will show that they have given a lot more than is required. Yes, to say it very plainly, "we are very proud of our postal employees in 'Big McK.' as well as over CC.

▼ ▼ ▼

▶ SEE WHERE in 'Big D' and other post offices they are going to do away with cuspidors for 'health and morale' reasons. If there is anything morally wrong with a fellow 'chawing a little thin Tinsley' then we don't know what morals are. What else is this present administration going to do. And we wonder what it will cost to get the new superduper sand filled containers to take ye old cuspidors place. Look out Benson—you may go out with the cuspidors, too.

▼ ▼ ▼

▶ WE HOPE to have in the very near future a "clean-up-campaign in McKinney. Every person and club in McKinney will be asked to cooperate in this campaign. Spring is just around the corner and a town regardless of size is known by its appearance — both inside and outside.

▼ ▼ ▼

Burglary Gang Arrested Here

Five men, two from Dallas and three from McKinney, were arrested in McKinney, Friday, early Saturday, and late Sunday evening. All have been charged with the burglary of the H. G. Ball Grocery Store in Tioga, Grayson County, Texas, the night of Wednesday, February 19, 1958, wherein several hundred dollars worth of merchandise was stolen. The knob was knocked on the store safe, but they were not able to open the safe. All men are being held in the Grayson county jail, in Sherman, and are suspected of other recent burglaries in this area.

According to Police Chief Jack Pike, the two Dallas suspects were taken into custody Friday morning by Police Chief Otho Nitchoias of Plano and Detective Sergeant Jack Sullivan of McKinney, about three miles South of McKinney on highway 75, on information from the Grayson County Sheriff's department.

Sheriff G. W. "Woody" Blanton, Deputy Sheriff Jim Smith of Grayson county and Chief Jack Pike and Detective Sergeant Sullivan of the McKinney Police department, took one of the suspects to Dallas and with Dallas sheriff's deputy Lagow, recovered several hundred dollars worth of the stolen loot from the suspects' home in Southeast Dallas.

Returning to McKinney after the Dallas raid, McKinney police and Grayson county sheriff's officers searched the residence of two of the McKiney suspects, recovered a part of the loot and arrested both on felony warrants held by the Grayson county officers.

Late Sunday evening, Detective Sergeant Sullivan and Police Sergeant Dick Edwards arrested the third McKinney suspect at his home and later recovered six hundred dollars worth of musical instruments stolen from a local high school band instructor's automobile in McKinney, earlier this week.

The stolen merchandise recovered in Dallas and McKinney was identified as that taken from the H. G. Ball Grocery Store in Tioga, Texas and consists of the following articles; two hundred pounds of popular brands of coffee in cans and bags; approximately forty cartons of various brands of cigarettes; fifty pounds of delicatessen meats and cheese; two cartons of chewing tobacco; 18 pairs of leather gloves; several pairs of men's socks; several cigarette lighters; 2 large screw drivers and eight large punches and chisels.

Four of the suspects were transfered to the Grayson county jail at Sherman early Saturday morning. The suspect arrested in McKinney, Sunday has also been turned to the Sheriff at Sherman in the Tioga grocery store burglary. Charges of theft over fifty dollars and burglary of an automobile will be filed against the suspect involved in the theft of the musical instruments with Collin County, County Attorney's office today by Police Chief Jack Pike.

Those arrested and charged with the Ball Grocery Store burglary at Tioga, Texas are James G. Bolick and Allen J. Price of Dallas and Jess Willard Chaffin, Charles Ray (Buck) Justice and Weldon Judd of McKinney. Chaffin, Justice and Judd were free on bond on similar charges in Collin county within the past few weeks. Bolick is wanted by Dallas sheriff's department on warrant charging assault to murder. All suspects have lengthy arrest records. Chaffin, Justice and Bolick have served time in correctional institutions in the past, according to Chief Pike.

Most of the men have made written statements, confessing their part in this and other burglaries in this area.

Police Chief Jack Pike is in Sherman today to question the arrested suspects regarding incidents in McKinney the past few months.

Chief Pike reports nine persons were arrested for drunkenness over the week-end and a number of tickets issued for traffic violations.

Mrs. Watson Is Guest Artist Of Lions Club

Three doctrines of the Christian Faith were emphasized in a beautiful chalk drawing by Mrs. Tommy Watson, guest of the Lions Club at the luncheon meeting Wednesday in the First Christian Church. Lions T. E. Wyatt and Rev. Watson, club chaplain, were in charge of the program, and presented the background music and scriptures as Mrs. Watson portrayed "the Birth of Jesus," the "Message of the Cross," and appearance of "The Angel at the tomb following Christ's Resurrection," or "The First Easter."

The program, appropriately presented at the beginning of the Lenten season, was introduced by Chaplain Watson, who prefaced his remarks with bits of humor. He then briefly reviewed the story which was so beautifully illustrated by his artist wife, whose deft hands quickly transformed one scene after another from her original drawing.

Special lighting effected a most inspiring and impressive climax to the program, as Rev. Watson led in prayer.

President Leroy Richardson who presided over the meeting, announced Clifford Byrd had been elected secretary-treasurer to fill the unexpired term of the late Charles W. Graves Sr., and E. A. Randles was the new Liontamer.

Eighty-one were in attendance, including the following guests: Roland Walden of Quanah, guest of the club; Andy Shauver of Jacksboro, guest of Kenneth Chambers; Ken Deidel of Dallas, guest of Wilbur Thompson; Joe Verhage of Memphis, Tenn., guest of J. C. Redden, and Mrs. Tommy Watson.

Homer Pritchard Gets Wrong Hat

Homer Pritchard advertising in the Daily Courier-Gazette, has lost a hat, picked up through error at the Masonic meeting here last Saturday evening.

Homer's hat is Stetson, light grey, size 7 1-4 long oval, and had "The Man's Store" printed on the label. The hat left in its place is very similar, in that it is the some color and size, but instead is a 3X Beaver from Jimmy Foster's store.

Mr. Pritchard says due to the close similarity, the mistake could have easily been made. However, for the benefit of the fellow with the wrong hat — who probably wants his own "topper," Mr. Pritchard can be reached at the local telephone office, or they may call John Sears at the Masonic Temple.

Three Car Wreck South Of Anna

A three-car collision occurred Sunday evening about 7:45 o'clock on Highway 75, one mile South of Anna, resulting in no injuries but about $300 property damage.

Patrolman Sam Purtle, making the investigation, reported three cars, all heading South, were driven by Ray Dean Day of Dallas; Herbert Eliston Wright of Denison and John Paul Johnson of Route 2, Anna.

Johnson and Wright were attempting to pass, at the same time, causing each vechicle to plunge into car directly in front.

Directors for the Collin County Fair and Old Settlers Picnic and Reunion met in the Chamber of Commerce office this week to plan for the combined fair and picnic set for September 23 through September 27, 1958. Melvin Belew and Geldon Roberts are co-chairmen of the combined show. Melvin Belew presided over the meeting.

A financial report of last year's activities was given and a tentative budget for 1958 was planned.

The shows have all major rides including eight rides for adults and six for kiddies, they will also have several shows for entertainment of the crowd as well as some 30 concessions. Dut to lack of participation by civic clubs of the county and a demand from the public for more major entertainment, the carnival has been booked for this season. There will not be a picnic and carnival in July, 1958, as has been the practice for many years, however, all activities of the Picnic Association will be carried on during the one exposition.

Local Schools Give $287 To March Of Dimes

O. Ed Smith, Jr., 1958 Campaign Chairman, announced that the city schools, through donations by faculty and pupils, raised $287.05 for the 1958 March of Dimes. This amount is considerably above last year's donation, due in part to the fact that the March of Dimes organization this year furnished Mr. Smith an adequate supply of individual envelopes for the pupils to take home and this supply was not available last year.

Smith was grateful for the wholehearted cooperation extended by all the school officials and by the response of the parents at home to the individual envelope system.

Donations by schools were as follows:

South Ward, $59.00.
West Ward, $52.00.
Junior High, $44.17.
North Ward, $41.25.
Doty School, $28.00.
East Ward, $22.70.
Senior High, $21.23.
Central Ward, $18.60.

Smith announced that contributions from schools over the county are coming in and their contributions will be acknowledged when completed.

Dallas Extends City Limits To Collin Line

The Dallas city limits have been extended northward to the Collin County line, which is just a short distance South of Plano. Extension of the boundary line was passed this week at a meeting of the Dallas City Council.

The annexation includes about nine square miles between Addison on the west and Richardson on the east. The ordinance had been passed on first reading April 23, 1954. A second reading was passed after a public hearing on May 28, 1956.

The council also initiated annexation proceedings on five smaller tracts totaling about 3.25 square miles. One of the areas includes .25 square mile bounded by Noell road on the east, Addison on the west and Dallas city limits on the south.

Another 1.75-square-mile tract is bounded on the north by Northwest highway and on the south and west by Elm Fork of Trinity River and on the east by existing city limits.

Another portion is bounded by the Rock Island railroad on the east, Elm Fork on the west, Joe Field road on the north and Northwest highway on the south. This tract contains about 1.5 square miles.

Two additional, smaller areas containing a total of about one-quarter of a square mile are located south of McRee road and east of Jupiter road.

Councilmen will set a later public hearing on the annexation of the areas.

Construction Of Expressway Is Near Completion

Paving of the Central Expressway South of Plano, connecting with the completed link north of Richardson is progressing satisfactorily.

Engineers and workmen are well past Plano with the east lane and will then pave the west lane, as well as a few places between Plano and McKinney. They had some two miles to go early last week, and if weather permits they can lay an average of 2,000 feet a day. The concrete has a thickness of twenty inches.

Tenative plans call for the dedication of the Expressway on June 1, when appropriate ribbon cutting exercises will be held and a motorcade of officials will traverse the route from a point north of Richardson to the northern terminus at Fairview, south of McKinney.

REGULAR TASTE TESTS FOR MILK SUGGESTED

Good quality milk tastes and smells good. These are the standards by which consumers judge milk and if the product they buy isn't pleasing on these points, a new source of supply is sought.

It pays the dairyman to give his own milk a regular taste test, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist. Early detection of a bad flavor or odor, and prompt efforts to remove its cause, can save serious troubles that are almost sure to folow if off-flavored milk is marketed.

Meekma lists some of the undesirable tastes and how they may be prevented. An acid, sour taste is caused by bacterial growth. Faster cooling or improved sanitation is needed. A bitter taste may come from strong feeds or weeds or by conditions in the milk of cows late in the lactation period.

"Cowy" flavors may result from poorly cleaned or poorly ventilated barns or a cow not feeling up to par. A cow breathing impure air will pass the odors along in her milk. Disinfectant not completely washed out of containers may be a source of undesirable taste. Wild onions or garlic in the pasture can make milk undesirable for use and other strong flavors may be over come by feeding strong-flavored feeds after milking, says Meekma.

Milk not properly cooled or handled with improperly cleaned milking equipment may taste malty. A metallic flavor may occur if milk comes in contact with certain metals. Musty feed or stagnant water can sauce a musty flavor in milk while a salty taste could point to castitis, says the specialist.

As an aid in preventing off-flavors and maintaining quality in milk, Meekma suggests that a copy of "Judging and Scoring Milk," a USDA publication, be obtained by writing to the Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. or from the local county agent.

CUT FEED COSTS FOR MORE DAIRY PROFITS.

One effective way to increase dairy profits is to cut feed costs, for feed normally represents about one-half the cost of milk production, says J. W. Davis, extension dairy husbandman.

Research has pointed out that the best way to do this is be replacing some of the grain and concentrates usually fed to dairy cattle with more high-quality roughage, he adds.

In feeding tests, it has been found that dairy heifers fed large quantities of good forage reach normal weights at 24 months of age with much less gain than is usually fed. In contrast to the 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of grain commonly consumed before first calving, the heifers grew normally on 560 pounds of grain plus plenty of good forage. The tests also pointed out, however, that it is important to maintain a high legume content in the ration.

The dairy nutritionists experimenting with this means of reducing the costs of raising dairy herd replacements discontinued milk feeding of the heifers at 60 days rather than the usual six months, an ddiscontinued feeding grain at nine months. The nine Holstein and 25 Jersey calves were offered as much forage as they would eat after 10 days of age.

There have also been other studies made showing how savings can be made by substituting high-quality roughage for some of the grains and concentrates in milking herds, says Davis. Such a roughage program can mean more efficient production and therefore a greater profit to dairymen.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

The chrysanthemum is often thought to be native to Japan, but history shows it was cultivated in China over 2 thousand years ago.

Hundreds of named varieties of chrysanthemums are listed in garden catalogs. New varieties are developed so rapidly that one year's popular varieties soon are superseded by newer ones. The many new forms, sizes and colors make this one of our most popular perennial garden plants. A wide selection of chrysanthemums will provide striking flower effect from late summer through fall. Varieties can be selected that will bloom in the warmer parts of Texas until Christmas.

Practically any chrysanthemum variety listed in the catalogs can be grown outdoors in Texas. The long, dry season from early summer through fall favors chrysanthemum culture. It preserves the blossoms, even though frequent watering sometimes must be done.

Whether you select the short, compact, "cushion type" mums or the taller varieties that make excellent longlasting cut flowers, you are sure to be pleased with your efforts.

A selection of the varieties to grow should depend chiefly on the amount of time, the gardener can devote to his plants. Large-flowering sorts, for example, demand much time for dis-budding, while the smaller-flowered varieties require little or no cultural procedures.

A bulletin is available from our office on Chrysanthemums, please call by our office for a copy of this bulletin.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS — of — THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

The Collin Soil Conservation District board opened its regular meeting with a resolution clarifying the legal descriptions of a segment of the common boundary West of Howe, Texas, between this distirct and the Upper Elm-Red District. This decision places proposed floodwater retarding structures No. 20 and No. 21 in the Upper East Fork Watershed within the Collin District.

A working agreement with the Upper East Fork Watershed Association was approved. This made the four structures planned for Hurricane Creek, Southwest of Anna, eligible for construction as funds become available.

The floodwater retarding structures planned for the M. C. Martin and Wick Graves Estate land in the Wilson Creek Watershed, West of McKinney, have recently had invitations to bid on construction issued. March 11th is the date set for bids to be opened and construction is expected to start soon after that according to information from Garner Jones, Project Engineer of the Soil Conservation Service Flood Prevention Unit.

Some of the 412 conservation essays written by public school students throughout the District were reviewed. The essays are to be judged and the winners sent as contestants to the "Save the Soil and Save Texas" state-wide essay contest, sponsored by the Fort Worth Press and others.

Twenty-four conservation plans were approved by the board, bringing 2,336 additional acres under agreement with the Collin District.

Collin Man Directs Climatic Laboratory At Eglin Air Base

An item appeared in the publication at Eglin Air Force Base, which will be of much interest in McKinney and Collin County, since it concerns Col. Joseph Woodrow Davidson, native here.

Col. Davidson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Davidson, Route 4 McKinney. His wife is the former Miss Marnell Welch, daughter of Mrs. Monte Copeland of Greenville.

Been reading the papers lately? Those news stores about temperatures of 25 and 28 below zero in the North make you shiver. It's been coolish (an understatement) in Northwest Florida, too. But the coldest spot in the U.S. this past week has been right here at Eglin. Look at the thermometer in front of the Climatic Labortory and it registers about 40 below.

But in a few months — weeks, we hope — our outdoor temperatures will be reaching toward the 100-mark. Right about then the Climatic Hanger will be heated up to around 165 degrees.

The man who controls these temperatures might be described as — as once — the coolest individual and the hottest one in the U.S. He is Lt. Col. Joseph W. Davidson, director of the Climatic Laboratory. Of course the temperatures in the huge hangar are governed in a general way by the test program, which is set up at least a year in advance. But Col Davidson can make weather predictions that are 100 percent accurate. If he says it will be zero tomorrow, just put it on the line that the thermometer inside the hangar will register that temperature.

If he says we'll have 10 or 17 or 21 inches of rain tomorrow and at the same time it will be so dry that paint will peel, again bet that he's right. Because in the smaller test rooms of the hangar, it is possible to have diametrically opposite tests in progress at the same time.

Col. Davidson's career prior to his arrival at Eglin, produced some other hot spots. One in particular, he remembers. That was when he was flying over North Korea and he tangled with a couple of enemy fighters. A hit disrupted the plane's intercom system and he couldn't contact members of his crew. A cloud provided a dandy hiding place for a couple of minutes and enabled him to elude the pursuers. When he got back home, he found to his relief, all members of the crew were safe.

Col. Davidson was born in McKinney, Texas, and graduated from high schools there. The next two years were spent at Texas A&M where between studies he did some boxing (117-lbs. soaking wet) and some track work. Then he transferred to the Anderson Diesel School in Los Angeles, graduating in 1938.

In 1941 he entered service as an aviation cadet and received his wings in April, 1942. The next two years were spent as a basic training instructor but in July, 1945, Col. Davidson went to the Marianas as a B-29 pilot with the 504th Bomb Group. With this group he took part in the bombing of Japan.

Returning to the States, he left the service in 1946 and for the next five years worked as a salesman for the Texas Pump and Supply Co. He was recalled in 1951 and went to Korea as a major in 1952 where he flew combat tour as a B-26 pilot with the 6166th Air Weather Reconnaissance outfit.

As a result of his war efforts he wears the Sir Medal with three clusters and five battle stars.

Col. Davidson came to Eglin in Sept. 1952, as operations officer of the 3206th Climatic Test Sq., became commander in July, 1953 and when the squadron became the Laboratory, he was named director. To use his words, he manufactures weather.

Col. and Mrs. Davidson have three daughters, Jo Ann, Sharon Kay and Janet Lynn. When he isn't working he spends so much time with his hobbies that he never thinks about retirement. Outdoors he is apt to be found fishing or on the golf course. Or just wandering around with his color camera. Be-color slides play an important part in his life. Out of a total of 500 slides, he has a collection of 200 taken in Korea that he values highly.

Although usually recognized as a Revolutionary War General and our first President, Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon. There, he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods. It was more than a century after Washington's death before general use was made of many of the sound agricultural practices that he advocated.

Former McKinney Man Honored By Investment Firm

W. C. Jackson Jr., president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, and president of the First Southwest Company of Dallas, was honored at a dinner in the Statler Hilton Hotel by the Dallas Security Dealers Association recently.

Jackson, a former resident of McKinney, expressed his views on the recent action of the Federal Reserve Board in reducing reserve requirements as further confirmation of an easy money policy, and a slight stimulus to economy. He also elaborated on the opinion that further reduction in reserve requirements, purchase of Treasurery bills by the Federal Reserve and an "across-the-board" reduction in income taxes, might be necessary before the present trend is reverse.

Jackson stated however, that he could see no definite change before the end of the year, or early in 1959 and believes, that as the country has been through recession periods before, will emerge from this one stronger.

Among other guests at the banquet was Frank E. Morris, director of research for the IBA in Washington, D.C., who spoke on central banking and how it affects the markets.

Sen. and Mrs. Roy Roberts will be in Denton Friday night to judge "Stunt Night" at Texas Woman's University.

"Mrs. Texas" Will Be Crowned April 15 In Galveston

April 15 is to be a momentous day for a Texas housewife, identity now unknown. On that date in Galveston she will be crowned Mrs. Texas, to represent the Lone Star State in the national finals of the Mrs. America contest at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, in May.

The setting was much the same at this time last year for Mrs. Jeanne Hale of Kilgore who is now the reigning Mrs. Texas, a woman chosen to exemplify the best traits of a homemaker. She had no idea of entering the Mrs. America contest and had never dreamed she would win the Mrs. Texas title.

Then fate took hold. A committee from Kilgore came to her house to ask her to enter the homemaking competition. Mrs. Hale, the mother of four, described the visit by the committee.

"It was 9 a. m. on Saturday before Easter," she said, "and the wins, are 4 years, had been practicing hiding and finding their candy eggs. The floor was littered with grass from their baskets. Though the beds were made and the bedrooms neat, the committee didn't see that; they had to discuss my qualifications amid the clutter of the living room."

From the Kilgore preliminaries, Mrs. Hale went on to win the state finals and then she entered the national finals of the Mrs. America contest. She didn't win the Mrs. America title but the children and her husband, Louis Hale, were "just as happy with the other honors I brought home." In the national finals, she won two daily awards for her ham dinner and sewing and the grand weekly award for the ham preparation.

"Winning the 'Mrs. Texas' title," said Mrs. Hale, "was one of the richest experiences of my life and I wish every woman could receive such an honor. It has given me an opportunity to tell the world how much I love my job of homemaker, wife and mother. Learning the arts of homemaking is the way for wives and mothers to escape boredom."

Mrs. Hale said the Mrs. America contest is worthy of the time and effort a homemaker might put into it and she urges women who are qualified to enroll in the competition. Official entry forms are available at Lone Star Gas Company and participating appliance dealers. Midnight of March 15 is deadline for entering the contest.

Lone Star is conducting one-day regional eliminations in Dallas, Fort Worth, Greenville, Waco and Abilene, starting March 31. Winners in these contests will participate in the Texas state finals to be held April 14-15 at Galveston. The new Mrs. Texas will compete in the national finals of the Mrs. America contest to be held at Fort Lauderdale, May 1-13. The contest is open to married women, at least 21 years of age.

Chamber of Commerce... CORNER

By PAT SIMPSON
Manager

The most common question we are asked is when some new industry is going to come to our community. Actually, compared to the population, McKinney is one of the leading cities in Texas in the number of people employed in manufacturing. We are now making a survey of our community to determine the number of people employed in industry and the number available for employment.

One-third of the population of the United States is gainfully employed and one-tenth of the total population is employed in manufacturing. McKinney, with a population of 14,000 is well over the national average in both instances. As for January 1, 1958, we had 1,348 people employed in manufacturing in McKinney; this is people employed in making a product and by firms employing 10 or more people. This would show us very near the national average.

The three utility companies of McKinney employ a total of 219 people; government employes in our community number 1,204 (this includes Veterans Administration Hospital employes, and school, city, county and state employes); 672 people are employed in retail stores in the community. These fields will give a total of 3,443 people actually on payrolls in the Mckinney area.

The survey has not included people employed in agriculture, owners of small businesses who are self-employed, and people employed in construction work. We can estimate the people employed in these types of work at 500 and have a very conservative estimate. A recent survey by the Texas Employment Commission showed 3,300 from Collin County working in the Dallas area. Since McKinney has about one-third of the population of the county, we can say one-third of these people, or 1,100, live in McKinney.

A total of these employed people amounts to 5,043, which, compared to a population of 1,400, shows over one-third gainfully employed, which is above the national average. It is well that we take stock of our community occasionally to understand how well off we really are. Yes, we do need more industries and more payrolls; also, we need to appreciate the industries we have; and we need more homes for these people and others who want to make McKinney their home.

Celina Bobcats Cop District Championship

By NORMAN SCOTT

Coach Buddy Smith's Celina High Bobcats copped the District 41-B basketball championship with a 48-38 victory over the Anna High Coyotes Friday night at Caldwell Gym in McKinney before a near-capacity crowd.

BOBCATS RALLY.

The Bobcats, leading by two points at the end of the third, staged a 19-point rally in the final stanza that was too much for Sam Barnes' Coyotes. William Smith, Joe Svoboda, and Jerry Malone paced the rally with Merle Hutchings handling most of the rebounding under both baskets as the Celina quintet gradually pulled away with 6:40 left in the contest. The tide turned when J. D. Rollins, Anna's tall boy, fouled out early in the period.

◆ ◆ ◆

FIRST HALF.

In the first quarter, the score was tied on three occasions before Svoboda cashed in on two FT's with 0.26 remaining to give the Bobcats a 9-7 margain at the end of the stanza.

Hutchings connected on a twisting shot from about eight feet out for a 11-7 lead over the Coyotes in the first 15 seconds of the second canto but with three minutes left before intermission, Anna managed an 18-16 lead on a fielder by Rollins and a free toss by Avery Scribner only to have Malone drive in for a lay-up two-pointer 30 seconds before the half ended and an 18-18 deadlock at half-time.

◆ ◆ ◆

THIRD QUARTER.

It was the same story in the third as the Bobcats waited to break a 27-27 tie when Smith ripped the nets from 20 feet out 20 seconds before the buzzer ended the quarter.

C. D. Cave pulled the Coyotes within a point of the Bobcats with a charity toss at the start of the final round but Svoboda, a fine ball handler, drove in along the base line for a two-pointer and the fourth quarter rally by the Bobcats was underway as they pulled away from the Anna five.

◆ ◆ ◆

SMITH TOP SCORER.

Smith of the Bobcats was the game's top point maker with 14 followed by Svoboda and Malone, with 10 apiece. Big Raymond Nalls also scored 10 and was the Coyotes' high point man.

◆ ◆ ◆

CELINA VS WYLIE.

The Bobcats, with their win in the third game of a play-off with the Coyotes, meet the Wylie Pirates, who won the District 42-B championship in a three-game series with Princeton, Tuesday night in the regional round. Officials of the schools were to decide last night on the play-off site and it is likely that McKinney will be selected as the spot.

Sgt. Carl S. Pike Presents "Safety Magic" To Students

A new approach to teaching safety was given at Boyd High School Wednesday morning by Sgt. Carl S. Pike with his "Safety Magic" program. Sgt. Pike, using tricks of magic to assist him in putting across the basic rules of good safety practices, is currently on tour through the United States under the national sponsorship of the American Trucking Associations, Inc. The local sponsor is Texas Dept. of Public Safety and Trucking Industry of Texas.

The program begins with a short talk by the sergeant, currently on leave from the Kent County Sheriff's Department, Grand Rapids, Michigan, who draws from his personal experience as a police officer and a police safety officer in Jackson, Michigan, for 13 years. During that time he helped to train schoolboy safety patrols and assisted in the development of similar safety and driver training programs. In his opening remarks, he relates several of the many cases on which he has worked which could have been prevented had a few safety measures been taken.

In demonstrating his "safety first" policy, he performs several feats of magic, such as pulling an armful of merchandise out of a tube, hollow at both ends; making red thimbles appear and disappear on the ends of his fingers with astonishing speed, and a dozen other tricks he learned while a professional magician before entering police and safety work.

The "Safety Magic" show, which has been called, "An enjoyable way of learning how to stay alive," has been endorsed by many schools and organizations such as New York University Driver Education and Safety Institute and the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents.

This is the time of the year that everybody is mad at Santa Claus because the Christmas bills have just come in. There is one small point to remember—700,000 North Texans got a refund check last year. It is pretty certain that your refund check won't reach you in time to pay your Chirstmas bills, but if you file your tax return now, the chances are you will get the refund two months sooner than if you file your return on April 15. You ought to figure your tax now, anyway.

LETTERS FROM . . .

THE PEOPLE

The life of Charles W. Graves, who died recently, was an open book to the people of McKinney and Collin County and all who knew him well were his friends. I have known him for over half a century and his whole life has been that of an honest and upright citizen. Alexander Pope was not was wrong when he said"An honest man is the noblest work of God." Every time we see a death notice it forceably reminds us of Job's question, "If a man die shall he live again"?

There is an old Grecian Drama played on Grecian stages 2,500 years ago. It was based upon a legend older than authentic history when men were executed for the alleged offending some imaginary god. The hope of immortality so eloquently uttered by the death devoted Greek. The Drama called ION. When about to yield his young existence to fate, his Clemmantha asked if they should meet again. To which he replied: I have asked that question of the hills - of the clear streams that flow ever - of the stars among whose fields of azure my raised spirit has walked in glory. All were dumb; but as I gaze upon thy living, face I feel that there is something in the love that mantles through its beauty that cannot wholly perish. We shall meet again, Clemmantha.

George D. Prentice said: "It can not be that the earth is man's only abiding place. It cannot be that our life is a mere bubble cast up by eternity to float a moment on its waves then sink into nothingness. There is a realm where the rainbow never fades, where the stars will be spread out before us like islands that slumber in the ocean, and where the beautiful beings which now pass before us like shadows will stay in our presence forever. I am sure all who knew Charley well will join me in saying: "May God bless his widow and children and their descendants and inspire them to forever keep in loving remembrance the name of Charles W. Graves.

William Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Boyd, 1501 Hill, McKinney, has recently been elected assistant rush chairman of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity at Southern Methodist University. Boyd is a graduate of McKinney High School.
